Q.1 (A)

(a1) Any two: (a) equal access to basic social services including health and education (b) equal participation in political and economic decision-making (c) equal reward for equal work (d) elimination of discrimination and violence against women.

(a2)

(i) Lanthoi wanted to know if there are moral, social and legal provisions to enable women to express their physical and mental potential and set themselves free from suppression.

(ii) They concluded that, along with the United Nations, men and women can be affirmed as equals.

(a3) Open-ended – accept any well-reasoned personal opinion supporting equal participation of men and women in decision-making (e.g., it leads to fairer, more balanced decisions and a more just society). Award full marks for a relevant, coherent response.

(a4)

(i) “Then, what I would like to know is if there are moral, social and legal provisions to enable women to express their physical and mental potential and to set themselves free from suppression” (any interrogative sentence identified from the extract is acceptable).

(ii) There are many, aren’t there?

(a5)

Q.1 (B)

(b1) AABCCBB (way-gray-A, wide-side-tide-B, dim-him-C – i.e., way/gray = A, wide/tide = B, dim/him = C, giving the pattern AABCCBB).

(b2)

(i) The old pilgrim built a bridge across the chasm.

(ii) The fellow pilgrim felt it was a waste of time because the old pilgrim had already crossed the chasm and, since his journey ended with the close of that day, he would never pass that way again.

(b3) The poem conveys that we should think of those who come after us and help them overcome the difficulties we ourselves have already crossed. Just as the old pilgrim builds a bridge for the ‘fair haired youth’ who will follow, we too should selflessly work for the good of future generations, even when we personally gain nothing from it. It teaches the values of selflessness, foresight and service to others.

Q.2 (A)

Q.4 Writing Skill

Award marks based on the following criteria for either option: relevance to the topic, clarity of expression, logical organisation of ideas, and grammatical accuracy.

(1) Speech – Should include a greeting/salutation, self-introduction, introduction of the topic (importance of small creatures like worms, bees, ants in nature), body of the speech (their ecological role, message of protecting nature), a conclusion, and expression of gratitude to the audience.

(2) Article – Should be written in the first person as the fellow pilgrim, describing the incident of the old pilgrim building the bridge for the youth who would follow, and should convey a positive change in outlook – such as learning to be selfless and to think of those who come after us – within 80-100 words.
